

HON. WILLIAM ROCKWELL CLOUGH

William Rockwell Clough, inventor and manufacturer, and prominent in New Hampshire public life, died at his home in Alton, September 29. He was born in Manchester, November 8, 1884, the son of John and Lydia Jones (Treddick) Clough. Educated in the public schools of Alton, at the Franklin Academy, Dover, and the Eastman Business College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y., he became an expert accountant, and was employed in the United States In-tions and manufactures he had received high awards at international expositions at Philadelphia, Paris, Chicago, and St. Louis. He had extensive interests in England, France, Italy and Germany, and had traveled widely in those countries.

Mr. Clough was a 32nd degree Mason, Knight Templar and Shriner, a past patron of the O. E. S., and a member of the G. A. R., the Algonquin Club and Ancient and Honorable Artillery of Boston, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, etc. He served three terms in ternal Revenue service at Boston. He had an honorable record in his country's service in the Civil War and was commissioned first lieutenant. In early manhood he began his career as an inventor of articles of general use such as miniature corkscrews, paper clips, etc., and the machinery for their manufacture. This business he established at Newark N. J., in 1875 and had conducted at Alton with great success since 1885. For his inven-

THE LATE W. ROCKWELL CLOUGH.

the state legislatures of 1897, 1899 and 1917, and at the last named session was chairman of the standing committee on National Affairs, in that capacity securing an address to the General Court by Ambassador Naon of Argentina on the possibilities of South American trade. He had served his home town, also, on its school board, and as justice of the district court. He is survived by his wife who was Miss Nellie Sophia Place of Alton; their son, William Rockwell Clough, Jr.; and a daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs. Gertrude Dugan. He was a successful man of affairs, interested for the public weal, and of wide acquaintance, both in this country and over seas.

HON. G. W. H. HAZELTON.

Gerry W. H. Hazelton was born in Chester, February 24, 1829, the son of William and Mercy (Cochran) Hazelton, and died in Milwaukee, Wis., September 29. He was a lawyer by profession and in early life went to Wisconsin where he was elected to the state senate in 1860. He was afterwards, in succession, prosecuting attorney for Columbia county, collector of internal revenue, Member of Congress for two terms, and United States

THE LATE HON. G. W. HAZELTON.

District Attorney, holding the last named office for 10 years, until 1885. He was United States Commissioner to the time of his death, and for a quarter of a century attorney for the Grand Trunk Railroad. He was a staunch Republican and an elder in the Presbyterian church. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Anna Hazelton, and a brother, Hon. George C. Hazelton of Washington, D. C.

CHARLES J. O'NEIL.

Charles J. O'Neil, United States marshal for the district of New Hampshire, died at his home in Walpole, September 23. He was born in Keene in 1861, but during most of his life resided in North Walpole. He was a member of the town school board for 18 years and a leader of the Democratic party in the legislature at six sessions. For a time he was the proprietor of the Cheshire Republican newspaper at Keene and showed himself as ready and forceful a writer as speaker. He was deeply interested in athletic sports of all kinds. He was a member of the Elks and a past state president of the A. O. H. A widow, a son and a daughter survive him.

JUDGE JOHN M. COCHRAN.

Judge John M. Cochran died at his home in Southbridge, Mass., September 25. He was born in Pembroke, April 11, 1849, and went to Southbridge in 1871. He was vice-president and trustee of the Southbridge Savings Bank, president of Worcester County Bar Association, president of Quinnebaug Historical Society, member of the Southbridge Club and Worcester County Commandery Knights Templars. He was first captain of K Co., Sixth Massachusetts Volunteer Militia, was a representative in the Legislature in 1880 and for many years has been town moderator. He was a past grand master of the Masonic grand lodge of Massachusetts.

ALBERT P. WORTHEN.

Albert P. Worthen, born in Bridgewater, September 8, 1861, died October 5, at Weymouth, Mass., where he had been town counsel for 29 years. He was a graduate of New Hampton Literary Institution and the Boston University Law School and had been a member of the Massachusetts Association of Town Councilmen in politics he served on the judiciary committee of the Massachusetts Legislature in 1893. He was president of the Weymouth Planning Board, president of the Massachusetts bar since 1885. A Democils and City Solicitors, a director of the Weymouth Savings Bank and a director of the Tufts Library Association. His wife, two sons and a daughter survive him.